

Josh Power-Gomez

Josh has been around some-of the best in the game - and those that trained and mentored him instilled things that made the difference in his game - He left it on the field.

His true passion is teaching others what it feels like to play the game with intensity. In his coaching and training he shares his in-depth knowledge and experience; including the style in-which he was taught and played.

He begins all training with the fundamentals. He teaches the mental game, and as the player progresses so does his instruction... all so it can be used in the game. He enjoys educating and empowering younger players, and seeing the results in their game.

Joshua believes the game can also teach character, commitment and values – in his training he requires each player to reach and maintain personal, individual goals relating to life's progression as a whole. He holds each player accountable.... to their-own skills and abilities.
